President Harrison will be a candidate for re-election says Jno Elam his former law partner.

Foreign exports of cotton for the season ending Saturday, have been 836,888 bales against 664,898 last year.

The Kansas prohibitory law, so far as it applies to original packages has been decided null and void by two United States Judges.

In the Sixth Congressional district 339 ballots were taken before W. W. Dickerson, the present Congressman was nominated for re-election.

Vote according to your judgment and not in compliance with your prejudices. There should be frankness in politics as well as in other affairs.

The plant of the Cherry-Morrow manufacturing company within the walls of the penitentiary at Nashville, was destroyed by fire Friday. Loss $275,000.

A convention of the colored voters of South Carolina, held at Columbia last week, urged the blacks of that State to vote for Haskell, the Democratic candidate for Governor.

Pension Commissioner Raum was called for a speech at Evansville last week, but he had been so roundly denounced by the Journal that the party managers deemed it advisable to cancel his appointment.

Four parties have tickets in the field in Indiana, Democratic, Republicans, Prohibition and People's. With such a variety from which to select, is it any wonder that Indiana draws votes from neighboring States

Messrs Pennington and Butler, inventors, of Mt Carmel, Ills, claim to have made aerial navigation a success. Their balloon or air ship will soon be ready for testing. A company with a capital of $20,000, 000 has been organized to back the scheme.

Some of the States recently admitted into the Union are as big as barn doors in point of territory, but in number of inhabitants they are no larger than the First Congressional district of Kentucky. At the recent State election in Idaho there were mustered out only 18,000 voters.

It is said at Washington that the President has decided upon three things: He will call an extra session of Congress early in November; will name Attorney General Miller as Justice Miller's successor; and will appoint Solicitor General Taff Attorney General.

Two hundred Jewish students of Odessa have been forced to renounce the Jewish faith and become Christians in order that they may not suffer expulsion from their universities in accordance with the enforcement of the anti Jewish laws. The devil evidently is on the so called Christian side in that movement.

Our Republican friends of this county have called a meeting of the county committee. This means organization for the first Tuesday in November. If the Democrats of the other counties are asleep, it is no reason why the Crittenden county Democracy should snore. Wake up, boys.

A year ago a man named Brane shot and killed railroad conductor Lemon, on the Louisville and Nashville railroad. Last week Brane was tried at Nashville and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years. In Kentucky a conductor is classed as a human being, but in what catalogue Tennessee places them remains to be learned.

Russellville had a liquor case last week that involved the constitutionality of the "original package" law. The case was tried before a justice of the peace, and the court decided that the original package bill was unconstitutional and that the man who sold three bottles of beer in a box as received from the wholesale merchant, had violated no law. The case will be taken to the higher courts. Russellville is a prohibition town.

Another row is pending in the Interior Department at Washington. Secretary Noble finds that there is too much money being consumed in the Land office for the work done, and he has ordered a curtailment of expense. It is said that Noble is dissatisfied with affairs in the office of the Land Commissioner, and a call for the resignation of Commissioner Goff is anticipated. The business in this department is on the decrease, and the expenditures are on the increase.

THE SILVER BILL.

Wall Street Speculators and Money Sharks the Only Beneficiaries.

A Washington special says: The bullion swindle bill has been tried and found wanting. Already the friends of silver as a money metal have discovered that the bill passed during the last session of Congress was a fraud, as it is a failure. The Wall street speculators made their millions out of the bill, and so did thrifty congressmen, both senators and representatives, according to common report. Silver has been steadily falling in price for weeks and none of the promised results have come upon the passage of the Republican silver act. The representatives of the mining states, and for that matter western people generally, who are not under the wing of Wall street insist, that the trouble is not with silver, but with the re strictest character of the law.

Mr. Ed Murphy, of Little Rock, Ark., is in the city. When a boy he chased the butter-flies across the commons of Marion.

Messrs. B. F. McMeekan and Jas. M. Gilbert have formed a partnership and will embark in the grocery business in Marion.

J. W. Blue, Jr., was appointed commissioner to rent the old clerk's office.

Judge Moore and Attorney Blue were authorized to borrow $800 and pay for the property bought of J. W. Blue.

It was ordered that jailer Cook be allowed monthly for his services as jailer, and his claim of $37.50 for services to date was allowed.

T. C. Campbell was allowed $20 for services as bridge commissioner.

J. A. Moore allowed $6 as bridge commissioner.

J. G. Rochester allowed $9 for services as bridge commissioner.

D. Woods allowed $25 a year for ex officio services.

J. W. Ainsworth allowed $2.50 for services as bridge com't.

Ordered that the county levy be made $2.50 poll and 10¢ ad valorem.

Ordered that Marion precinct rail road tax be levied at 15 cents on the $100.

Ordered that all justices be allowed $8 per day each for services at present term of court.

W. P. McCullom was released from paying poll tax.

Ordered that county judge examine jailer residence and have such repairs made as needed.

NOTES

The claims for use of teams and for work on public roads amounted to $500.

The appropriation for bridges amounts to about $2000.

The insurance on the court house will cost $100.

The justices who voted against allowing the officers the salaries fixed upon were Hard, Rankin, Brightman, Harpenden and Imboden.

The total appropriation is about $5,500.

The county has a pretty good board of magistrates.

The 10 cent ad val. rent tax can be used only on old debts and bridge purposes.

Paying the jailer monthly is not a bad idea.

$409 is the smallest amount that could be allowed the county superintendent. A good officer is well worth that amount. Mr. Diboe is making an excellent officer.

County Attorney Blue is going at his work with an earnestness which means a good officer.

Jailer Cook is in very poor health but he has good assistance and will earn every dollar he gets.

Judge Moore is putting in his entire time in looking after the duties of his office. He will earn $500 per year as county judge.

"Pay your officers what their services are worth, and see that they discharge their duties," is what county attorney Blue said in his address to the court.

"If I were to keep an itemized account of all the business transacted by me as county judge, and bring in the bill at the next term of court," said Judge Moore, "it would amount to not less than $700."

The $600 raised, a smile to tingle over Jim and John's faces.

COUNTY FINANCES

The Court of Claims Appropriates About $6,500.

The court of claims adjourned on Wednesday afternoon. In addition to the business reported in our last issue, other matters of importance were passed upon.

County Attorney Blue presented a petition signed by a number of citizens asking the court to allow the County Judge, County Attorney and County Superintendent to prosecute infringements of the law. Being a young officer he was unable to spread himself over so much territory at one time. He attended Squire Harpending's court to look after the interests of the Commonwealth in the Subblefield-Hodge case. Hodge is gone and the case against the Subblefield boys was continued until the next term of the Squire's court. Five lawyers, two magistrates, two constables, and fifty or a hundred witnesses and spectators were in attendance.

At Shady Grove Justice Leech tried a couple of young men for fighting. He had notified the county attorney to be on hand, but before Mr. Keyl, who went to represent the Commonwealth, reached the scene of business, the boys went before the magistrate, plead guilty, and were fined $2 each.

At Marion, the parties who disturbed the peace on the Monday before, were before Squire Morgan, and J. W. Blue, Jr., represented the Commonwealth. The defendants called for a jury and the result was fines as follows: John Watson $2.50 Tom Woody $2.50; John Sharpe $1, and Starkey $2.50.

$1600 Earned but not Collected.

"I can't do it any more," are the words that our affable county clerk was speaking to some of his deputies as we stepped into his office a day or two since. With a curiosity to know what it was that so clever a gentleman had to quit doing, we inquired into the matter and found that what he meant by the expression above quoted was that he could not record chattel mortgages for 50 cents when the law fixed the fee at $1, a sum that fairly represented the value of such work. He continued: "For twelve years I have been doing this—something that no other clerk in the State has done. During that time I have recorded 3200 mortgages, and collected therefor $1600, when the law allowed $3200, and the work was well worth that sum."

OUR R. R. DEBT.

Most people in Marion precinct know that they are paying a railroad tax; those who have forgotten it will be reminded of the fact one year, or several years to come. There are a great many, however, who don't know just what shape the debt is in. The order appointing W. H. Asher superintendent of poor house was re-submitted, and F. J. Imboden appointed and the salary fixed at $19.

A. J. Pickens, sheriff, was allowed $3 for serving road orders.

J. R. Clark was allowed $75 as local health officer.

J. W. Blue, Jr., was appointed commissioner to rent the old clerk's office.

Judge Moore and Attorney Blue were authorized to borrow $800 and pay for the property bought of J. W. Blue.

It was ordered that jailer Cook be allowed monthly for his services as jailer, and his claim of $37.50 for services to date was allowed.

DOROTHY CHAMBERS.

A Co-operative Room Plan For Recreational Girl Enthusiasts!

Dorothy chambers! did you ever hear of them? If you are a progressive young woman with a mission to accomplish or a vocation to pursue you must assert your independence by going and living in them. There is first a general sitting-room, which four young women unite in a nice way. There is a special room for the ladies, where they sit on the chairs and recline on the sofas to their hearts' content. In this room are four "cubicles"—remember, you must call them nothing but "cubicles," whether you know what the term means or not. They are only little nooks where each girl preserves the sanctity of her own tooth-brush and hair-pins, where she has her eyelids closed, and where she dreams of future greatness on a single bed with hand-blanks beneath it, and wearing apparel hanging round about. When she can pause long enough in her wild career after food and emanation and things, long enough to eat, she satisfies her inner woman with food served in a restaurant on the ground floor. That is a "Dorothy," as they have them in London, built on the plan of chambers for men, and a girl's room is a "Dorothy." There is a kind of house, stately heraldic which deserves canonizing in the woman who dwells thus alone with her kindred! hides her anguish from an unfriendly world. It requires a female Mark Tapley to be any thing like jolly when sharing the somewhat dreary companionship of her own sex and missing the salt and spice and spur of man's proximity. Women living continually without men are apt to be pale and plump, given to wraps, base shapes, weak-tea, sentimentalities and sweet-meats that is any thing but hilarious in effect. Of course it sounds like heresy to say so and is almost univocally to utter such radical sentiments. When Adam found himself alone in the garden he made such a time about it that a companion was created for him, but I suppose if Eve had been fashioned first she would have gone drooping and melancholy from London to Paris, or Italy, or to Switzerland, in two days, had not the Americans are nevertheless a multitude. Two-thirds of the passengers on the Rhine steamers are English and Americans. The majority of those who ascend the Rigi and Pilatus are of the same nationalities, and the steamers on the beautiful Swiss lakes could not exist without them. There is no occasion to trouble yourself about your language in Germany along the Rhine or in Switzerland. If you can't speak their language, and it is very rarely that an American or Englishman can speak any but his own, the natives will speak yours. The Germans, the Swiss and the French are far better linguists than the Anglo-Saxons are. I doubt whether there are five hundred American and Englishmen who can fluently speak a foreign language; but in the more frequented parts of the world, especially among the English, every man can understand English.

The inhabitants of the picturesqueness portion of the Continent are compelled to learn English. The Anglo-Saxon travel has become so great that it is a business necessity. I have been informed that a hotel in Switzerland or the Rhine country will not employ a clerk, waiter or porter who does not speak English. I know that during a sojourn at many hotels in these countries have never been able to make known my wants in my own language. In Switzerland the tide of Anglo-Saxon travel is enormous. The Swiss owe the English had in a great debt of gratitude; for without the two people it would be very difficult for them to make both ends meet. Switzerland is very picturesqueness and beautiful. It seems as if it had crowded all her greatest beauties into one little corner. You have not yet met a person who did not find the land of the Swiss to be all that fancy painted it; but snow-capped mountains, tremendous gorges and deep blue lakes can not, of themselves, contribute much to the support of human life. It is only through the strangers these mountains draw that their inhabitants are able to live in fragrant comfort. —Cor. Louisville Courier-Journal.

AN HISTORICAL MEDAL.

Peace Offering Made to the Choctaws By President Atkinson in 1835.

Mr. Alexander H. Handlan, manager of M. M. Book & Co.'s railway supply house, has in his possession a relic which he values very highly. The medal was given to the Indians by President John Quincy Adams in 1835 as a peace offering. The medal is made of silver, is three inches in diameter and one and one-half ounces. The obverse side bears an engraving of President Adams, the picture being surrounded by the inscription: "Given by John Quincy Adams, President of the United States." Under this are the figures 1835. On the reverse side are a pipe and tomahawk, denoting peace and friendship. Under this are clasped hands, a three-button military sleeve of the period, and the barred arm of Indiana, indicating that they represent the President and some Indiana chiefs. The medal is secured by a large silver ring in the top, from which is pendant a large piece of blood-stained tape.

"Mr. Handlan was put in possession of the medal in this way: In 1890 his brother, Augustus H., was in business in Fort Smith, Ark. He credited an unknown Confederate soldier to an amount of $34, and as security this medal was given. The soldier disappeared —no one ever knew where he was holding the jewel's history. In 1891, being at Fort Smith and returned homeward, he left Fort Smith and returned homeward with a leave of absence, with the privilege of taking his gun with him through the Choctaw Nation. He met an Indian alone on the way, and they exchanged shots. The fight finally became a hand-to-hand one, and the Choctaw was shot to death. The soldier searched the pockets of the Indian, who proved to be a chief, and, among other things, found the medal in question.—Globe-Democrat

FARMER AND PLANTER.

FATTENING SWINE.

Opportune Suggestions From a Trifling Topic.

If hogs have been properly developed and are full fed, thought is not given to fatten them, yet when they take on flesh very rapidly. Sometimes they will lay on flesh to the amount of two and a half pounds a day, but this is extraordinary. There are some essentials in fattening, which are too frequently disregarded and indifferent suggesters in the result. In the first place cleanliness should distinguish the inclosure. Hogs will not fatten satisfactorily in a filthy inclosure, and they are compelled to do so, which will be most likely the case in an inclosure that is wet and dirty. It is a good plan, when it is possible, to have a good surface drainage, but at all events let something be devised to insure dryness, and let there be a full supply of good, wholesome water.

It is somewhat difficult to determine the space which the inclosure should occupy, but it is enough to say that it should be sufficiently large to promote the health of the hogs, and until cold weather comes, the hard-boiled egg, milk and bread, custard, cottage cheese and meat puddings are prepared to suit their delicate stomachs, and placed on clean saucers or sheets of brown paper to catch their eye and whet their appetite. If perchance a rain-storm threatens all the oil pieces of carpet and haggard are called into requisition to cover the floor, and if it pours down to the ground, and threatens the lives of the brood, so forthwith the sow and gatlings the famished hogs into the inclosure without troubling in the mud. A word from their starts the children gathering shavings or straw to start a quick blaze in the stove, and the little dripping things are wrapped in woolen clothes and placed in the oven to await the vivifying action of heat and toasting up with peppered drink.

Poultry fanciers may blow their own horns as much as they like; however, I will not need a very large inclosure. The pen should be dry and warm, and arranged that the sleeping apartment is distinct from where the animals leave their droppings. The hog is a cleanly animal, if he has a chance to be, and it never leaves its droppings when it sleeps if it can prevent it. Any intelligent person, however, may perceive the desire of compelling the animal to live in its own filth or any filth. When cold weather comes and the hogs are taken from the pasture they will not need a very large inclosure. The pen should be dry and warm, and arranged that the sleeping apartment is distinct from where the animals leave their droppings. The hog is a cleanly animal, if he has a chance to be, and it never leaves its droppings when it sleeps if it can prevent it. Any intelligent person, however, may perceive the desire of compelling the animal to live in its own filth or any filth. When cold weather comes and the hogs are taken from the pasture they will not need a very large inclosure.
